When I was really little, I learned while playing. I didn't know it, but I was getting mentally stronger. When I was older, Sherwood Forest Taught me that one bead, plus another bead, equals 2 beads. They didn't just say $1+1=2$, now figure out these other problems. They actually taught me to use materials to assist me in solving equations.

When I first went into Lower Elementary, I didn't know many people. But thanks to their kindness and understanding, I am better prepared for what comes next.

During my academic journey, I have faced many obstacles, many of which were too big to tackle alone. With help from my friends, teachers, and family, I have overcome them one by one. The help that I have received has inspired me to help others, and I am a Boy Scout on my path to Eagle. I will miss Sherwood Forest, with its nice campus and even nicer teachers, but I know that it's time to move on. I will use what I have learned to help myself and others soar above and beyond. It will be difficult, and I acknowledge that there will be obstacles, but I will overcome them like I did before. With all of my heart, I will miss Sherwood Forest Montessori School.
